A Rare opportunity. A beautiful Country Seat for sale on Rhode Island.

THE undersigned offers for sale her present well known residence in Middletown, situated on the Main road, one mile, from the State House in Newport. It contains about 30 acres of excellent land, under the best cultivation. The Mansion House, in perfect order, and most conveniently constructed, contains 3 stories, and is finished in modern style and in a very superior manner; there is also on the premises a suitable barn, crib, carriage house and other outbuildings appropriate to the establishment, and suited to a gentleman's residence. The walls of the farm are in good order, and the orchard is supplied with a variety of valuable fruit trees. Many ornamental trees also surround the House. There is a beautiful garden on the estate, which is well arranged, furnishing every kind of flowers, shrub &c. &c.

The House is located at a pleasant distance from the road, and commands one of the finest views of the Ocean Bay, surrounding Islands and adjacent scenery, that can be found on Rhode Island. Being sufficiently near Newport for all convenient purposes, it is also quiet and retired. It offers a rare opportunity for those who are now visiting Newport, to purchase a very valuable residence. For further particulars, apply to the undersigned on the premises, or to AUGUSTUS BUSH, Broad street.

POET'S CORNER.

From the Berkshire Courier.

THAT LITTLE STRAW HAT.

'Tis a dear little hat, and it hangs there still,—
And its voice of the past bid our heart strings thrill.

For it seems like a shadow of days pass'd o'er,
Of the bright one gone who had that hat once wore.

'Tis a dear little hat, for each simple braid,
Tells that oft o'er its platings those fingers have played.

And many a wreath for its crown has been twined,
To the graceful taste of his youthful mind.

Yes, there silent it hangs, with its curling front,
Still as peacefully rolled as has been its wont;
But the golden ringlets which waved below,
Have curled their last cluster long ago.

Aye: the hat is the same, but it shades no more
Those light blue eyes as in days of yore:
And the sunlit smile that danced on that brow,
Can light up our heart's sad memories now.

Sad memories they are, o'er their quivering strings
Each breath of the by-gone a tremor flings,
And joys that we fain would waken again,
In memory are wreathed with a thrill of pain.

Then recall not the past—though the dimpled hand
May never again clasp the braided strand,
Though the breeze no longer may hear the tone
Of the ringing laughter of childhood's own.

Ah! think of him now with a glittering crown
O'er his heavenly forehead resting down,
While his fingers stray o'er the golden wire,
That bends with his voice 'mid the cherub choir.

Aye: I see him now, with the holy light
Pouring broad o'er his brow with radiance bright,
And I hear the tones which to heaven have birth
Oh! call him not back to this saddened earth.

Free-Labor Produce.

No. 377 Pearl-Street,

NEW YORK.

THE subscriber having purchased the stock of THOMAS & WOOD, proposes carrying on the business, dealing exclusively in produce which is the result of Free Labor.

He has opened with prices which he believes will be found with the exception of Dry Goods, some of which must for the present be a little higher) to be uniformly the market rates, trusting the increased business which this fact, as it becomes known, may secure, will enable him to maintain this desirable position, notwithstanding the disadvantages which a store of this kind is under, when compared with those which make no distinction between the products of FREE and of SLAVE LABOR. Particular attention paid to the selection of TEAS and COFFEES, as well as other GROCERIES, which are not the product of Slave Labor. Dealers and others supplied upon favorable terms, and orders by mail carefully attended to. ROBERT LINCOLN MURRAY.

SOL TODD AND THE BUCK HOLE.

BY R. H. HOOPER, ESQ.

OUR next adventure was decidedly a dangerous one. Forging the Tallapoosa river, where its bed is extremely uneven, being formed of masses of rock full of fissures and covered with slimy green moss, when about two thirds of the way across, we were hailed by Sol Todd from the bank we were approaching. We stopped to hear him more distinctly.

"Hellow! little 'squire, you a-chicken hunting to day?"

Being answered affirmatively, he continued—"You better mind the holes in them ere rocks—if your horse's foot gets ketched in 'em you'll never git it out. You see that big black rock down to your right? Well, there's good bottom down below that. Strike down that, outside that little rattle—and now cut right into that smooth water and come across!"

We followed Sol's directions to the letter, and plunging into the smooth water, we found it to be a basin surrounded with steep ledges of rock deep enough to swim the horse we rode. Round and round the poor old black toiled without finding any place at which he could effect a landing, so precipitous were the sides. Sol occasionally asked us "if the bottom wasn't first rate," but did nothing to help us. At length we scrambled out, wet and chilled to the bone—for it was a sharp September morning—and continued our journey not a little annoyed by the boisterous, roaring laughter of the said Solomon, at our picturesque appearance.

We hadn't more than got out of hearing of Sol's cacophonous explosions, before we met one of his neighbors, who gave us to understand that the ducking we had just received, was but the fulfillment of a threat of Sol's, to make the 'chicken man' take a swim in the 'Buck Hole.' He had heard of our stopping on the opposite side of the river, the night previous, and learning our intention to ford just where we did, fixed himself on the bank to ensure our finding the way into the 'Buck Hole.'

This information brought our nap right up, and requesting Bill Spaw to stay where he was till we returned, we galloped back to Sol's, and found that worthy, rod on shoulder, ready to leave on a fishing excursion.

"Sol, old fellow," said we, "that was a most unfortunate lunge I made into that hole in the river—I've lost $25 in specie out of my coat pocket, and I'm certain it's in that hole, for I felt my pocket get light while I was scuffling about in there. The money was tied up tight in a buckskin pouch, and I must get you to help me get it."

This, of course, was a regular old-fashioned lie, as we had not seen the amount of cash mentioned as lost, in 'a coon's age.' It took, however, pretty well, and Sol concluded, as it was a pretty cold spell of weather for the season and the water was almost like ice, that half the contents of the buckskin pouch would be just about fair for recovering it. After some chaffing we agreed that Sol should dive for the money 'on shares,' and we went down with him to the precise spot at which our pocket 'grew light.' We did so with an anxious exactness, and Sol soon denuded himself and went under the water in the 'Buck Hole,' like a shuffler duck with his wing broke.—"Puff! puff!" as he rose to the surface. "Got it Sol?" "No, dang it, here goes again!" and Sol disappeared a second time. "Puff! puff!" and a considerable rattle of teeth as Sol once more rose into 'upper air.' "What luck, old horse?" "By jings, I felt it that time, but some how it slid out of my fingers." Down went Sol again, and up he came after a lapse of a minute, still without the pouch. "Are you right sure, squire, that you lost it in this hole?" said Sol, getting out upon a large rock, while the chattering of his teeth divided his words into rather more than their legitimate number of syllables. "Oh perfectly certain Sol, perfectly certain.—You know $25 in hard dollars weigh a pound or two. I didn't mention the circumstance when I first came out of the river, because I was so scared and confused that I didn't remember it.—But I know just as well when the pouch broke through my coat pocket, as can be."

Thus reassured, Sol took to the water again, and as we were in a hurry, we requested him to bring the pouch and half the money to Dadeville, if his diving should prove successful.

"To be sure I will," said he—and his blue lips quivered with cold, and his whole frame shook from the same cause.

The 'river ager' made Sol shake worse than that, that Fall.

But we left him diving for the pouch industriously, and no doubt he would have got it, if it had been there!

MISCELLANEOUS.

From Neal's Saturday Gazette.

Memory! What is it?

It is the perfume which lingers around the vase, whose gift of flowers lies withered and dead. When earthly comforts have flown far away, and time's desolating hand has erased from the sight every trace of hope—all that is fair and beautiful—so that at least we have learned to look upon life as a scene of pilgrimage, of warfare, and of woe—then it is that recollections of by-gone happiness steal in upon us with their witching spell, and as we dream on, memory colors the phantom with such bright tints that it wears the semblance of reality. We live over again those glad hours, and are consoled for a little moment by the lingering incense of the past.

Memory! 'Tis the troubled murmur of the wind on a stilly night. When wealth, and the glitter of fame, crown a period of toil, and the eager soul has grasped all that would seem to constitute the bliss of man—ofttimes at this most prosperous hour, whilst satisfied ambition sings a lullaby, whose purport is, take thy rest, eat, drink, and be merry—some hidden voice stirs the hither-to quiet current of the mind, and with a sudden impulse wakes into existence the remembrance of some unrighteous action, which has long slumbered amidst the relics of days now sunk to their endless rest—and his unbidden revealing embitters both the present and the future, clothing them with the sable garb of remorse, and causing the evening of life to be filled with the troubled murmurs of trammelled thought.

Memory! What is it? It is the gentle dew which wakes to renewed life the drooping blossom parched by a noonday sun. It is molian tones, re-echoing with each breath the solemn music of the spirit land—telling in earthly melody of the loved, the lost.—Memory is one continuous, never ending dream; requiring no heated imagination to call forth its power, for it is awakened into being by a look, a tone. It is the muffled bell, tolling forth the knell of blighted prospects, of wasted affections. It is the requiem chaunt of unimproved opportunities, of moments idly spent in folly's giddy maze, and of deeds we vainly wish undone. Memory is the halo which gilds the sunset hour of life, making bright the fleeting moments of the soul, for it points back to Calvary's cross, and guides the weary wanderer to the bright home of those who have gone before.

Oh Memory! thou searcher of the heart! who can resist thy despotic sway. Prince and peasant, the lordling of the land, and the tiller of the soil, alike must bend beneath thy potent influence, and oftentimes bitter are the dregs with which thou druggist the cup of life. Thou art a stern teacher, Memory; but most blessed are thy ministrations, if they but warn us so to guard the future, that in it we err not as in days gone by.

CHROMIA.

HARD LUCK.—When we hear an individual complaining of hard luck, we begin to inquire of those who know him something about his habits. In a few instances, but alas! a very few we discover, that fate has indeed gone hard against him; while in the majority of cases, we learn that he has no one but himself to thank for his hard luck. In fact, this so called hard luck is a sort of scape-goat for men's follies or vices. Is one improvident, or extravagant, or both?—he lays his ruin to hard luck. Is he indolent in business?—hard luck is blamed for the failure that is sure to come. Is he indulging in joviality, when he should be at his office?—hard luck is charged with his ultimate downfall.

We frequently see young men, without capital or family connexions, rise to affluence, while others who had every advantage at the start, sink into poverty. Here the hard luck is on the side of the successful, yet, ten to one, the sons of rich men are the ones to complain. Even criminals who have come to the penitentiary have been heard to bewail their hard luck. Hard luck! Men have hard vices, hard hearts and hard follies, but rarely, very rarely, hard luck. In the great game of life some fall from want of talent, more from want of principle, but the great body from want of industry: few from hard luck.

THE RAG PICKERS.—No one familiar with the streets of New York has failed to notice this numerous class of human beings. They go through the streets with a bag on their backs, a basket in one hand, and an iron poker in the other. They examine the offal thrown from the houses and stores, and every old bone, paper, or nails, is gathered up. They are ragged, dirty, pale-faced and emaciated. A more starving, poverty-stricken, object, forlorn-looking class of beings could hardly be imagined, and probably does not exist in this country, if any other. They seem to consist of the remnants, the very fag-ends of human existence. You would suppose that they were driven by the direct necessity to their labor, and by it were only enabled to preserve their lives upon the brink of starvation.—But such is not the fact.

Riding in an omnibus, in the upper part of the city, not long since, by the side of a somewhat social sort of a man, though a stranger, meeting, with several of these beings, I alluded to them in the light in which their wretched appearance struck me.

"O," said he, "there is not a more profitable business in the low line carried on in the city. Why, continued he, "there is Mr. A. who is worth $60,000, the foundation of which he obtained in that way. And there is Mr. B., he is worth $12,000. They all make money at it."

We were perfectly astonished. I supposed that, at the best, they obtained but the scantiest subsistence, and that by the help of begging, more or less. I was told that the paper and rags were purchased by the paper manufacturer, who converts them in the genuine article; the bones, a part of them were made into useful articles, and the rest were ground into dust,

FOREIGN NEWS.

The steamship BRITANNIA, from Liverpool via Halifax, arrived at New York at about 12 o'clock M., on Tuesday last with seven days later news from Europe.

ENGLAND.—A good deal of rain has fallen in various parts of England during the last week; indeed, the weather has generally become unfavorable throughout the country. Harvest is now pretty well gathered in, even in remote parts of the country, and a few days of rainy weather will not materially affect the general results as far as the grain crops are concerned.

But the abundant harvests on the Continent, and the favorable reports from the United States combine to keep the corn market without any great fluctuation.

The prices of potatoes have, however, considerably risen; notwithstanding the markets have been generally well supplied with this description of food.

IRELAND.—Several more arrests have taken place, amongst which is that of William Cunningham, who has been apprehended at Cork, and is fully committed upon the charge of High Treason. Some of the inferior instruments in the late movement, whose conduct has not been of a heinous character, have been set at liberty on bail, and will not perhaps be brought to trial.

On the 23d Sept., a bill of high treason against J. Cormack, E. Egan, W. Peach, T. E. Faname, J. Brennan, J. Preston, T. Cunningham and T. Stark, was sent to the grand jury, who, in about a couple of hours, returned a true bill against all the accused, except Cormack and Cunningham.

All the judges having taken their seats, the other prisoners were placed at the bar. They were all men of the lowest class, dressed in rags and most dejected in their appearance; with the exception of Stark, a peasant of great stature and strength, apparently cut out by nature for a bandit or guerrilla chief.

The prisoners were told that they would be required to plead on Saturday. The Grand Jury were then discharged till 10 o'clock on the 25th, and the Court adj'd.

The state trials were resumed at Clonmel. Mr. Smith O'Brien was placed at the bar. After an ineffectual attempt to postpone the trial, Mr. O'Brien pleaded not guilty. His counsel has great hope of obtaining a favorable verdict on the strength of some technicalities, if not on the merits of the case.

The South of Ireland continues tranquil. The marauding parties who had lately been seen on the hills appear to have withdrawn to their homes.

FRANCE.—The events of the French revolution flow on in rapid and interesting succession. Another crisis has been got over without an appeal to arms in the streets of Paris. The elections are now terminated; and it will be seen that besides the return of Louis Napoleon, Achille Fould, and Raspail, for Paris, Count Mole has been elected for the Gironde, and has taken his seat in the National Assembly.

The Government candidates have been all unsuccessful. The Prince left London very quietly and almost unattended, and so careful was he to avoid any excitement, that after his arrival in Paris, he remained two or three days in privacy, changing his residence to avoid notice.

On the 26th he took his seat in the National Assembly. His entrance caused some emotion in the Chamber, but the formalities having been proceeded with, the Prince was declared, without opposition, a representative of the department of the Yonne. His certificates of birth and nationality were dispensed with. The Prince then ascended the tribune, and in a brief written speech, declared his adhesion to the Republic; to the defence of the order and consolidation of which he declared that no man is more devoted than himself.

Raspail's admission to the Chamber was voted; but the Assembly afterwards, amidst great confusion, accorded permission to prosecute him for having excited civil war against the Republic. The Assembly accordingly, passed almost unanimously a vote of confidence, only twenty men of the Mountain rising in their places against it. This vote caused an improvement in the funds, but matters remain, in point of fact, precisely as they were before, with almost as much danger of an outbreak.

In fact, Gen. Cavaignac finding his position between the Moderate and the Red Republicans wholly untenable, has found himself compelled to make a declaration from the tribune, couched in vague terms nevertheless, intimating that he had hoisted the flag of conciliation and concord to both parties, and that the Government only required that the men who sincerely offered it their support should afford the Republic a loyal support.

SPAIN.—The same desultory warfare continues on the Catalonian side, with reports of the defeat of the insurgents, who however continually reappear.

Intelligence of the defeat of Cabrera's band near Figueras is confirmed.

NORTHERN ITALY.—The Milan Gazette of the 22d, officially announces that the armistice concluded with Sardinia, and expired on the 21st, has been prolonged for 30 days more. There are hopes therefore, it adds, that a pacific arrangement of the differences existing between Austria and Sardinia will soon be agreed to.

GERMANY.—The advices from Frankfurt of the 21st instant, state that tranquility was entirely restored in the town, which was occupied by above 10,000 Austrian, Prussian, Hessian, and Württemberg troops. The loss of the soldiers, during the fighting of the 18th inst., is estimated at 25 killed and 70 wounded; but the loss of the insurgents is unknown, though it may be supposed to be greater than that of the troops.

NAPLES.—We have advices to the 16th. A steamer which arrived at Civita Vecchia, brought the intelligence of an armistice agreed to between Sicily and Naples, through the mediation of England and France.

PERSIA.—The Cholera is subsiding at Berlin. Other news unimportant.

BY THE MAIL.

HEAVY VERDICT FOR SLANDER.—In the Court of Common Pleas for Hampden, the trial of a case for slander resulted in a verdict of $1,100 damages. The Springfield Republican contains the following report of the case:—Marie E. Ames, by her next friend versus Julian Ware. The trial of this case commenced Tuesday afternoon and closed Thursday morning. The plaintiff is a young girl who lives in Chester, and damages were claimed of the defendant who also lives in Chester, for certain slanderous reports alleged to have been circulated by him respecting the character of the girl. A trial was had in the same case a couple of years ago, and the jury then gave $800 damages for the plaintiff. Exceptions were taken, and a new trial granted. The result of the present trial, will, we opine, not suit Mr. Ware quite as well as the first one arrived at, for the jury after being out but a short time, brought in a verdict of $1100 in favor of the plaintiff.

A young man named James Dawson, a member of the Du Quenne fire company, came to his death on Saturday night under extraordinary circumstances. He had been on parade during the day, and in the evening, near the Theatre, was cutting some capers on the pavement, and while attempting to lift an empty barrel from the ground, it is supposed, to cast into the street, he was heard to utter a painful exclamation, and was observed, almost instantly, to sink to the earth. On examination, it was found that he had in the sleeve of his firemen's shirt, a common bowie knife, open and protruding several inches from the shirt, below the elbow. He had put it in his sleeve as the only convenient place about his uniform which he still wore; and in his efforts it had worked up on the inside of his arm until the blade projected through the garment at the elbow. Thus, on lifting the empty barrel with a violent jerk, the weapon entered his body somewhere near the groin, severing an artery in its course, and producing almost immediate death.—Pittsburgh Gaz.

HEAVY DAMAGES.—In the Circuit Court held at Newburg last week, Gilbert W. Oliver recovered a verdict of $8000, against the New York and Erie Railroad Company as compensation for severe injuries sustained by him four years ago, making him a cripple for life, by an accident to the train in which he was. The accident was caused by a defect in one of the wheels, which broke, and the cars were thrown into a gully.—N. Y. Jour. of Com.

The Religious Revival at Georgetown, D. C., under the auspices of Rev. Mr. Slicer, has continued ever since the camp meetings, four weeks ago. The Advocate says members are daily added to the M. E. Church. Bishop Jones preached a solemn and impressive sermon on Monday evening. A revival has also taken place at Annapolis.

WINTER EVENINGS.—One of our exchanges remarks very truly, that the nights are sensibly lengthening, and the long interval between sundown and bed time presents a very favorable opportunity to all to improve it in such a manner as to make their homes not only interesting and instructive, but to add greatly to their store of knowledge and their pleasures. One who has experienced the advantages of such a course, gives his advice in this fashion:—Instead of running after foolish and uninteresting exhibitions, let families unite at home, adding to the circle a few friends when desirable, in devising and carrying out plans of amusement that combine the elements of mental and moral improvement, and foster the filial, domestic and social affections; for in these, after all, rest the true elevation of character and the security of our republican institutions.—This is really a graver question than many suppose. When frivolity becomes the main trait of character, and pleasure taking and luxury engross a people's attention, they become unfitted for self-government, and an easy prey to those who will school their own minds to more difficult and important tasks, and will think and contrive, and carry into operation their schemes while the masses are pursuing amusements and degenerating frivolities.—Phil News.

FIRE.—A fire broke out on Saturday evening, about 8 o'clock, in the third story of 1384 Washington street, near the Old South, occupied in the front by the 'Nation' office, and in the rear by the 'Yankee Blade' newspaper. It burnt up through the roof furiously, and spread to roof of store 138 Washington street, occupied by Seth W. Fowle, where it was finally subdued. Great quantities of water were poured in, completely inundating the stores beneath. Mr. Fowle's loss is fully insured at three Hartford offices, the Aetna, the Protection, and the Hartford, $10,000 each. He had between fifty and sixty thousand dollars in stock. The office of the Malden dye house occupied the lower floor, 1384, and is insured at the Firemen's office; loss about $300. Wm. B. Fowle's stock of books, directly over this, was badly damaged by water. The building, belonging to the Old South society, is insured at the Massachusetts Mutual office. The 'Yankee Blade' was insured at the People's office for $1000. The precise amount of damage they have sustained is at present uncertain, but it must fall more or less short of that sum. Some 5000 or 6000 copies of the edition for this week—of which the outside pages had been printed, were destroyed, rendering it necessary to do the work over again. There will be no interruption, however, in the publication of the paper, except for a day or two, as the publishers will take a new office immediately, and continue to issue their journal as regularly as before.—Boston Post.

Twenty-two newspapers have been started in Manchester, N. H., and but four have survived. To establish a newspaper requires not a small amount of talent and capital.

THE PRISONER OF SAN ANTONIO DE BEXAR.—There came down to this city in the month of November last, an old man in the capacity of wagon-driver in the service of the United States. He was from the interior of Kentucky, where he had entered on his new vocation, agreeing to fill it for the term of six months—no longer. His hairs were grey and few; his face was furrowed more even from sorrow than from age, though time, too, had left its traces upon him. He was intelligent—evidently educated—and unsuited by previous habits for the station which, in this instance, he had assumed. Having to report himself to Capt. B., in this city, before embarking for Mexico, that gentleman was struck with his intelligence and still respectable though careworn appearance. He

"questioned him the story of his life," which he briefly told, and which we shall still more briefly repeat. He was "bred a physician; married young, and settled in P. County, Kentucky. An only son was the fruit of that marriage. Following the bent of a wayward inclination, he emigrated to Texas while that country was yet a province of Mexico—just before its people proclaimed their independence. Though young he played a daring if not a conspicuous part in the early struggles of the colonists to sustain their freedom, and was made prisoner by the enemy in one of the earliest battles—that of San Antonio de Bexar, we believe. He was carried off a captive to the city of Mexico, there immured in a dungeon, and finally sentenced to work as a prisoner for life in one of the Mexican mines. The knowledge of his melancholy fate was too much for his mother—it preyed upon her mind, and through her mind upon a constitution not naturally robust. She pined in grief for her child—she sickened—died. The father, finding himself thus bereft of his household gods, neglected his profession; at times he resorted to the bowl as a temporary assuager of his griefs, and finally became a burthen on his hospitable neighbors, who knew him in his better days.

When our army had entered Mexico—before even it reached the capital—his captive son was enabled to write him a letter telling him that for a ransom of six hundred dollars he could secure his liberty.

How or where the old man was to get the six hundred dollars under Heaven he knew not, but like Major Miller, when asked if he thought he could capture a certain battery of the enemy, he would try. As a first step, then, in the accomplishment of an enterprise so dear to him, he enlisted or registered himself as a United States teamster for six months.

Capt. B., having heard his story, at once felt the force of that strong parental affection which at his age prompted him to undertake such a task, and under, too, such unpropitious auspices. He was not the man, however, to damp his aspirations for the liberation of his only son. He rather felt inclined to inspire him with hopes of success; and with this view promoted him to the rank of wagon master. This gave him an increase of pay, and a position a little, at least, more suited to his years and former condition of life. In good time, having expressed his gratitude to Captain B. for his sympathy and kindness, he set out for Mexico, invested with his new command. He landed at Vera Cruz, proceeded up with one of the trains, and reached Mexico without meeting an accident or subjecting himself to a reprimand.

By this time his story became known to General S., of the American army, who interested himself in his behalf. He also enlisted in the old man's favor the sympathies of an influential Mexican general, and through the mutual efforts and exertions of both, on the payment of three hundred dollars—one half of the sum originally stipulated for—the prison doors of the prisoner of San Antonio de Bexar, after twelve years captivity, were thrown open, and the first use he made of his liberty was to rush to the arms of his devoted father.

About three months ago the father and son passed through this city. They called on Capt. B.—The old man, with tears in his eyes, thanked him for his kindness; the son expressed his obligations, and both left for their home in the West on the next boat. No laureled general left Mexico a happier man than the father did. None felt he had achieved a greater triumph than the son. They are now living in the village where that son was born—the father has resumed his profession, and lives happy in the respect of his neighbors and the love of his rescued son. The latter has raised a marble slab at the head of his mother's grave in the village churchyard, on which, in a single sentence, is carved a son's affection.—N. O. Delta.

KILLED BY A CRAYAT.—Henry Batdow, a colored porter at Brewster's Building, N. Haven was found dead in his bed on Saturday morning last, having been strangled by his crayat, which he wore to bed.

NO RESPIRE FOR LANGFELD.—Sheriff Lelar received a telegraphic despatch this evening from Governor Johnson, saying that he would not interfere in the case of Charles Langfeldt, but that the law must take its course. The wretched man will accordingly be executed on Friday next.—Philadelphia Bulletin, 18th.

RETURNED.—Mr. Hammond, cashier of the Dorchester and Milton Bank, returned to his residence in Dorchester, on Saturday night, in a very exhausted state of bodily health. We understand that he returned via the Western railroad and this city.

At Nantucket during the late storm, the rain fell from Monday to Wednesday morning to the depth of nearly 6 inches. It is estimated that not less than 10,000 cartloads of sand were displaced by the rain.

An incendiary was shot at St. Louis, a few nights ago, while setting fire to a lumber yard. He died of his injuries.

ROBBERY WITH THREE IN A BED.—In the Police Court, yesterday, Michael Hennessey was brought up on a charge of stealing $64 from Mrs. Catherine Carney, while she was asleep in the same bed with him and his wife. The whole party had been engaged in something of a spree, and towards morning complainant accepted an invitation to take a little repose in the manner stated. Without undressing, she laid down by the side of the defendant's wife, and when she awoke her wallet, containing the $64, was missing from her bosom, where she had deposited it. Hennessey was held for trial.—Boston Post.

We learn that the receipts of the American Tract Society for six months, ending October 1st, were $106,097, and the issues from the general depository during this time amounted to $110,000. More than 200 colporteurs have been commissioned during the half year, including a large number of theological students for their vacations. The number of colporteurs in the regular service, exclusive of students, exceeds 230, many of whom are laboring among the Germans, French, and Norwegian population. The Society is still indebted for printing paper nearly $20,000, and it needs liberal and prompt aid to carry out its extended operations.

N. Y. Recorder.

Mr. Elisha Chandler, who lately left N. Ipswich, N. H., has been heard from at N. York, and has since probably gone farther South, where he formerly belonged. He married a widow woman some year or two since, in Temple, we believe, but had no children. He left a handsome property in trust for his wife's use, and ten hundred and sixty dollars ready money. He was a singular man in some respects, and probably thought he did not receive a sufficient return for his regards. He had the necessary papers drawn up, and made all his arrangements for his departure before he left. He has property at the South, and drew $500 from a bank in Boston, with a draft, before he left the city.—Banker Hill Aurora.

STEAMBOAT ACCIDENT.—The fine new steamer Plough Boy, Capt. McKee, in descending the Missouri bound from Weston to this city, struck some obstruction in the river near Providence landing, on Friday last, and sunk almost immediately. A breach eight or ten feet in length was made on her larboard side, near the bow, and she filled so rapidly as scarcely to allow sufficient time to run her to the opposite shore before she settled—her bow rested on the bank, but her stern went down in ten or twelve feet of water, causing the hull to break just aft the boilers, and her upper decks to part forward of the gangways.—The Plough Boy was a new and very substantial craft on her second trip, and built expressly for the Missouri river trade. In her construction neither expense nor pains were spared to render her suitable and competent to undergo the trials and dangers of low water, but notwithstanding she has met with an unavoidable accident, and will doubtless prove a total loss.

At the time of the accident, she had on board a large number of passengers, including between 150 and 200 discharged volunteers, but we are glad to state that no accident of a serious nature occurred, and all got ashore safely. The Illinois troops, of whom there were 130, being quartered on the lower deck, lost most of their baggage, and the largest portion of their arms. Nothing was lost from the cabin, and the steamer Amelia, passing soon after the accident, took on board all the passengers and the entire furniture, &c., belonging to the boat, and arrived here yesterday morning. The freight, of which there was little, being stowed in the hold, is entirely lost or so badly damaged as to be rendered almost worthless. The boat was owned by the commander, Capt. McKee, Mr. Bardeau, first, and Mr. Shelton, second clerk. She was built at a cost of $18,000, and was insured by offices in this city to the amount of $13,000. The loss to her enterprising owners will, therefore, be between $5,000 and $6,000. $5,000 was taken by the Tennessee Agency, and said to be the first policy issued by that office.

BRIDGE GONE.—The bridge across the neck of the pond above the feeder dam at Salmon Falls, in Russell was broken down on Saturday forenoon, by the heavy "Golden Chariot," belonging to Howe & Co's circus, which was attempting to pass over, on its way to Chester village. Horses, chariot and men, like the army of Pharaoh, floundered in the deep waters, but were fortunately extracted without much damage. The chariot was got out on the 15th by Daniel Stocking. We have not learned who is to pay for the bridge. We know who ought to.—Westfield News Letter.

A DIABOLICAL ACT.—Some malicious fiend, in human shape, on the night of the 11th inst., took from the stable of Mr. Isaac Bailey, living near Denton, (Md.) a very valuable horse; and tying it to a fence near by, placed some fodder before it, and whilst the animal was eating, the villain stabbed it to the heart with a dagger or knife. On the next morning the horse was found lying dead, and the ground covered with blood.

LOSS OF WHALE SHIP MOBILE OF NEW BEDFORD AND TEN LIVES.—The whaling bark Fairy, which arrived in Provincetown on Thursday evening, fell in with 23d ult. lat 40, lon 54, the wreck of whale ship Mobile, of and from New Bedford, 7th ult. for Pacific Ocean, and took off twelve persons. The M was struck by a sea when 7 days out, which threw her on her beam ends, carried away all her topmasts, and filled her instantly with water, washing overboard Capt. Long, the first officer, (Mr. Stewart of Maine, aged 23,) a boat steerer, (a Portuguese by birth,) and seven men.—The Fairy landed them at Provincetown.—One account reports the number of lives lost at eleven, viz: the Captain, first officer, carpenter, a boat steerer, and seven men.

CALIFORNIA POLYGAMY.—These people have their marriages, but they consist of no other ceremony than the consent of the parties, and they are only binding till they disagree or choose to part. They have no other mode of cancelling a marriage than by using the phrase "I throw you away." It is nevertheless true that we found many couples, both young and old, who lived in great unity and peace, esteeming their children and their children them. Parentage or relationship forms no obstacle to their intermarriages.

It is very common for the wife to urge her husband to marry her sisters and even their mother; and the common custom is, when a man first marries he takes the whole of the sisters for wives.

These many wives of one husband live without jealousies or disputes, each looking on the whole of the children as if they were their own, and the whole living in one house.

Mr. John H. Buchanan, constable for St. Louis township, met with an accident yesterday afternoon, which almost instantly deprived him of life. While riding upon the Gravois road, on his way to the office of Justice Dawson, about three miles from the city, his horse took fright at a number of coal carts passing along the road, and became unmanageable. Before the rider could disengage himself from the saddle, the horse rushed among the oxen and threw him.

The fore wheel of a wagon passed over him, nearly severing his body. He exclaimed, "the driver's to blame for not stopping the oxen," and then instantly died. Mr. B. was a native of this country, and leaves a large and dependent family to mourn his untimely loss.

STAMPEDE FRUSTRATED.—We learn that about forty negroes had made arrangements to leave their masters in Woodford county on Saturday night last, but the plot was discovered just in time to defeat its execution. The negroes all had free passes. According to the plan of operations, each was to steal a horse and cross the Ohio River before day. They were betrayed by a negro to whom the plot was disclosed, and who was requested to join in it. The negroes stated that two or three white men who had been in the neighborhood some days, furnished them with free passes.—These men got an intimation of the discovery of the plot and made their escape.

BENEVOLENT.—The late Mrs. Hon. Roger Sherman, of Fairfield, Conn. received into her family, and educated at different periods, twelve destitute orphan children. She had lost her own children, and both herself and husband being impressed with the conviction that they might do good by filling the place of parents to the homeless, they commenced the work—and as one and another became settled in life, their places were filled by others.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The following capital story is going the rounds from the Buffalo Commercial: A Dr. Dean, in Rochester, a few days since hitched his horse to a shade tree in front of a gentleman's house, where he had no business.—The gentleman, not relishing that his trees should be thus destroyed, very quietly drove horse and buggy to a lively stable, and had them "put out." The doctor, returning from the visit to his patient, and finding his horse and buggy gone, and believing them to be stolen, issued a flaming hand-bill, headed "Daring Theft," and also advertised them in the morning papers. The next day, however, he learned that his horse was safe at a public stable.

The Democrat says that the Dr. wishes to apologise to the community for the imputation cast upon the good name of the town by insinuating that so bold a theft could be committed in the day time. He should learn that shade trees were not set out and pruned through years with much labor and care, to be made hitching posts of, thus rendering them liable to be destroyed in five minutes. One of our citizens used to go out and quietly cut the halter, whenever a horse was fastened to a tree in front of his residence, which proved to be quite an effectual remedy to the encroachment.

THE BATAVIA ADVOCATE SAYS: That among the objects of interest to the vast crowds in attendance at the late Genesee County Fair, was the beautiful horse "Black Warrior," belonging to Capt. H. W. Merrill, of the 2d regiment U. S. Dragoons,—a spirited charger, that had borne his gallant master through the entire Florida and Mexican wars. He was raised in Tennessee, and was taken to Florida for the cavalry service; where he was selected by Capt. Merrill from a large number of which he is believed to be the only survivor. He has never been in harness, but is perfectly broke under the saddle, knowing his duty like a soldier. He is now about sixteen years old, and although he has performed long marches, chased buffalo on the western prairies, swam rivers, encountered the seas, and participated in eight general battles, yet he has never been sick or lame for a day, and there is not a wound or blemish about him, except his scars from wounds received in battle—one from an escopette ball, and the other from a piece of shell. He is a noble, fine blooded horse, and moves with all the ease and grace of a belle in the ball room. Though young as a colt in appearance, the Captain intends to give him his time with a pension.

Mr. Kelley, who was shot by Mr. Robert Ewing on Monday evening, died yesterday. Mr. Ewing has been taken. We are told that, some miles below the city he got on board the Western, bound to Nashville, but he no doubt did so with the intention of getting off before reaching the mouth of the Cumberland.—N. Y. paper, Oct. 11.

FANNY KEMBLE BUTLER.—In the Court of Common Pleas on Saturday, Fanny Kemble Butler made application to the court, through her counsel, Messrs. William Meredith and Benj. Gerhard, Esqs, for allowance from her husband's estate, to conduct the suit now pending between herself and husband (Pierce Butler) on a bill of divorce. She also prayed that the arrears of the allowance for her support made by her husband, in a written contract, accepted by her, should be paid.

George M. Dallas and John Cadwallader appeared for Mr. Butler, and after some time spent in discussion, the further discussion was postponed until Saturday next, to give the parties an opportunity to make some private arrangements by which the amount required may be definitely fixed.—The counsel for Mr. Butler agreed to advance $500, without saying for what purpose it was given, with the approbation of Mr. Butler.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SINGULAR SERIES OF RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—On Monday evening the out express train on the Boston and Maine Railroad, ran over a pair of oxen on the track in Reading, instantly killing one, and severely bruising and mangle the other. Soon after, another train came up to the spot, the engine and one or two cars passed safely, when the wounded ox, which was laying by the side of the track suddenly tossed his head upon the rail, directly in front of the wheels of a passenger car; two cars were thrown off the track, and considerably damaged. No person was seriously injured, although some of the passengers received some bruises. This train was detained two or three hours. Yesterday morning, soon after the train from Haverhill had left that place for this city the axle to the hind passenger car broke, causing a detention of some minutes. A hand employed on the train was somewhat bruised, in consequence of jumping from the train.

KETCHUM'S PATENT MOWING MACHINE. At the recent exhibition of the New York State Fair a new machine for mowing attracted great attention, particularly among the farmers. Mechanical ingenuity has, for many years been put to severe test, to produce a machine that would lighten that most severe labor of the farmer—mowing; many machines have been invented, but after a short trial have been found worthless, or nearly so. Wm. F. Ketchum, of this city, has at length produced a machine that in the opinion of those capable of judging, answers every purpose on either rough or smooth ground—cutting the grass much closer and laying it more even than can be done by the ordinary method. One man and a span of horses can, it is said, cut from 12 to 15 acres per day with perfect ease. The capacity of the machine to perform what is claimed for it, has been thoroughly tested in presence of numerous of the most experienced farmers of this section, and we are pleased to learn that the ingenious inventor is likely to reap a fair reward for his perseverance and industry.—Buffalo Ad.

NORTHUP THE MURDERER.—Amos Northup, found guilty last week at White Plains, of the murder of Miss Goodhart, was sentenced on Friday, by Judge McCoun, to be hanged on the 1st of December. In answer to the usual question before sentence he protested that he had been wrongfully convicted, but said he had a "debt to pay" and was quite willing to pay it. The only favor he asked was that his execution might be speedy—four days would suit him well and four hours better.

A petition to the President of the United States dated 25th August last, has been forwarded from Guadalupe, praying that an American vessel or vessels may be placed at the disposal of the white inhabitants of that island, for the purpose of conveying them to the United States. The late French revolution, followed by the abolition of slavery, they say, has made it unsafe for the whites to reside there, but they are entirely destitute, and unable to defray the expenses of their emigration. A precedent for the course they suggest may be found in the case of the white population of Hayti.—N. Y. Express.

A BLOODY EWING.—Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Robert Ewing, a young man of a very highly respectable family in this city, rode to the house of Mr. Wm. H. Kelly, on the corner of Main and Preston streets, called him out, and for some alleged grievance, struck him with a whip. Mr. Kelly seized his assailant by the collar, whereupon the latter drew a pistol and shot him, the ball entering near the left ear, breaking both jaws, entirely severing the tongue near the roots, and lodging, as the surgeon supposed, near the right ear. Mr. Kelly was alive last night, but it was not thought that he could live long.

Mr. Ewing, after shooting Mr. Kelly, remounted his horse, and rode off. The marshal informed us last evening that he had heard of him four miles from the city, on the Salt River road, and sent two police officers in search of him.

A TRAVELLED CAT.—One of the soldiers engaged in the battle of Baylen, near Granada, found on returning to the city a solitary cat, in a large square, just outside of the city walls, and taking a fancy to it carried it home with him. Eleven years after this he left his native country, and took with him his favorite cat; after visiting the whole of Europe, and a great part of America and Asia, this extraordinary cat returned home with its owner, and died shortly after at the good old age, at least for one of the feline species, of 38 years.

Mr. Hart, the sculptor, who was some time since commissioned by the ladies of Virginia to execute a full length statue of Henry Clay, is advancing most successfully with his task, and will soon proceed to Italy to complete it.

NEWPORT MERCURY.

NEWPORT.

SATURDAY MORNING, OCT. 21, 1848.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY of this State will meet at Bristol on the last Monday of October or the 30th inst.

A TOWN MEETING was held on Wednesday, to vote on the adoption or rejection of the City Charter. The polls were opened at 10 o'clock, in the morning.

It was voted that the names of voters be written on the ballots, and that the polls be closed at 4 o'clock, P. M.

The City Charter was rejected by a vote of 325 to 250.

The Committee appointed at the last meeting to look into the dock between Ferry and Newman's wharf, reported that the town had no right to the same, the report was referred to the next town meeting, to give the Committee time to report further in relation to the same. W. A. Clarke declined serving further on the Committee, and John Weaver was appointed in his place.

The Town Council was authorized to cause the houses in the streets in the compact part of the town to be numbered, and draw on the town treasury for the expense.

The Town Treasurer was directed to proceed forthwith against the late Collector of taxes, and sue him as the law directs.

STATE ELECTIONS.

VERMONT.—The Legislature of Vermont after a long difficulty, was organized on Monday last. In the House of Representatives on the forty-sixth ballot the Whig candidate for Speaker was elected. The candidate stood for Kirtledge (Whig) 109—Latham (Dem.) 39—Nudham (Free Soil) 4—Scattering 2—maj. for Kirtledge 4.

PENNSYLVANIA.—It is yet extremely doubtful who has been elected Governor of Pennsylvania, so close has been the returns received. The chances appear to be in favor of Wm. F. Johnston, the Whig candidate who is said to be elected by about 150 majority; but it will be necessary to have the official returns to settle the question beyond a doubt. The Whigs will have a majority in both branches of the Legislature.

OHIO.—The vote for Governor in this State is too close to form any certain calculations as to its result. The probability seems to be that Weller the Democratic candidate is elected by a very small majority. The Democrats claim a majority of three in the House. But it seems to be conceded on all hands that there will be a tie in the Senate.

FLORIDA.—In 18 counties the majority is for Brown, the Whig candidate for Governor, is 572, and for Cabell the Whig candidate for Congress, in the same counties is 741—Nine counties to hear from which will probably reduce the majority. Both branches of the Legislature will be Whig.

TILLEY'S NEWS DEPOT.—Our readers who are in want of the latest publications of the day, or new and fashionable Music, Newspapers, &c., are invited to call at this establishment, which is kept by Mr. B. J. Tilley, at No. 126 Thames street. Among others, will be found the following papers:—"Ned Buntline's Own," "The Farnal Critter," "The Flag of our Union," also a great variety of Song Books, Almanacs, Comic Pictures, and Cakes at the lowest prices.

THE STEAMER PERRY.—This fast and comfortable little boat is now running daily between her place and Providence. She is commanded by Capt. George Woolsey, a gentleman every way qualified for his post, and aided as he is, by his obliging and experienced clerk Mr. C. L. Stanhope, cannot fail to give the fullest satisfaction to the travelling public. By reference to the advertisement, it will be seen that the hour of leaving Providence will be changed on and after Monday next.

THE BOSTON WATER CELEBRATION.—In the grand procession which is to take place in Boston in honor of the introduction of the Cochituate water, places have been assigned for the members of the Legislature, the public officers, the Masonic Lodges, the Order of Odd Fellows, the Engine Companies, and various other societies and public bodies of Rhode Island and of the other States of New England. The parade will be one of the most magnificent and imposing ever witnessed in the country.

THE N. O. Delta has received information of Col. Washington's command, now on route for California. The command has proceeded four hundred and twenty miles, with a train of one hundred and fifty wagons, heavily loaded, in the space of twenty-one days, and was then encamped near Mapern, in the state of Durango. The whole command was in excellent condition, and expected to be in Chihuahua in ten or twelve days. They had been treated with great kindness and courtesy by the Mexicans, who furnished them with liberal supplies of every thing they wanted.

DON'T SEND MINATURES BY LETTER.—Dead letters, recently received at the General Post Office in Washington, contain novel remittances, for instance, a pretty pair of yarn stockings; a pair of socks, a present of cotton handkerchiefs, for children—and the most valuable, a small miniature likeness of a gentleman, splendidly set in gold—the back part filled with hair—evidently an interesting memento. This was mailed at Savannah, to a correspondent in Charleston, S. C.

"There is a village in the land of steady habits and wooden nutmegs called 'Christians' Hollow,' where may be found eight very respectable, enterprising men, mostly farmers, who have been married to twenty women. One is now living with his fourth wife, two with their third, and five with their second wives; and it is a singular fact these families comprise almost the whole of the population of the neighborhood."

SEVEN DAYS LATER NEWS.

The steamship NIAGARA, arrived at Boston on Thursday last, bringing seven days later news than received by the Britannia at New York.

The markets for American produce dull. Sales of Cotton light, at a decline.—American lower and unsaleable, except for export.

A fair home trade and limited continental demand for manufacturers.

The Grain market was steady, but not active. Flour declined 6d, to 1s. per barrel.

It is expected that the harvest and imports will be ample to prevent a rise in bread stuffs.

There has been an impulse in the London money market, on account of the bank dividends, but no general change in interest.

No change in Corn or Cotton at Havre. The Queen has returned from Scotland.

The Chartists' trials resulted in the banishment of five prisoners for life, nine for two years, four for eighteen months, and one to a fine.

Accounts respecting the crops are contradictory, and especially about the potato crop.

The weather during the past week has still been of an unfavorable character. In the midland counties, especially, so much rain has fallen that the land has been flooded to a considerable extent, and the new wheats must be considerably affected by the wet. The prevailing dampness has naturally created a demand for old Wheat, but the tendency to an increase of prices in cereal produce generally is completely counteracted by the continued large arrivals from abroad, and, indeed, a small decline of prices has taken place at the great places of consumption. In Ireland the potato disease has committed universal havoc; and every day establishes the certainty that not only a large quantity of Indian Corn will be needed for that country, but some scheme of eleemosynary aid must be adopted in various districts before the winter has passed over.

From Ireland all we learn is that the trials are proceeding with little haste, and no advantage to the government or the prisoners.

In France there have been banquets and other political meetings, and there has been a confusion in the Chambers, but to no amount.

Louis Napoleon has decided to sit for Paris, the city where he was born.

Accounts from Messina confirm the acceptance of the mediation of England and France. Hostilities were suspended and every thing was quiet.

The overland mail had arrived, with dates from Calcutta of the 20th, Madras 25th, and Bombay 31st of August, with news of an insurrection of the Sikhs.

GREAT ALARM AND TREMENDOUS EXCITEMENT.—On Tuesday a circus company pitched its tent at Northwold, on an open space in the rear of the town, for the purpose of giving a performance in the evening.

About 7 o'clock, just after the commencement of the "show," and while the clown was delighting the audience with the execution of the "polka," a sudden gust of wind and rain came up. The former was so violent as to snap off the pole which had been run up in the centre of the ring, and which supported the large extent of tent covering.

In an instant the throng of men, women and children were buried in the folds of the canvass. There was no time for reflection, and each individual made vigorous exertions for his own preservation.

The greatest consternation prevailed.—The men shouted, while the women and children shrieked for deliverance from the embrace of what many of them no doubt thought would prove their winding sheet.

Suffocation seemed inevitable, when a number of persons who were fortunately provided with knives fell to work and cut the canvass so as to admit of the egress of the terrified assemblage. In the rush from the place some of the parties were bruised and received other slight injuries and a majority of them left behind various articles of wearing apparel, consisting of bonnets, hats, caps, coat-tails and other fragmentary "relics of old decency." One man was somewhat badly hurt by being struck on the forehead by the falling pole, but luckily, as far as we could ascertain, escaped with whole bones.

REMARKABLE ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE BY A SLAVE.—On Tuesday, as the steamship Columbia was coming up the Delaware river, and when a short distance above Newcastle, Del., on removing the hatches to get the goods in the hold in readiness for delivery, a black man was discovered, stored away among the boxes and bales.—He proved to be a slave named Moses, the property of Miss Mary Brown, a wealthy lady of Charleston. The ship immediately put back to Newcastle, where the fugitive was lodged in prison.

The regular sailing day of the Columbus was Thursday last, but she was delayed at Charleston until Saturday, and her passage was prolonged beyond the usual time by a heavy sea. Just before her hour of sailing on Thursday, a box marked "E. Mishaw, Philadelphia," was brought aboard, and the freight paid on it. It was put below near the hatchway. The runaway slave, incredible as it may seem, was tightly confined in this box, the dimensions of which were two feet in depth, two feet four inches in width, and three feet five inches in length.

He had a loaf of bread and a jug of water in the box with him, which would have been sufficient for his sustenance from Charleston to Philadelphia, had the vessel not been delayed. The delay, however, drove him to extremities. He burst out of the box, in which it is astonishing how he could have had air enough to breathe, cut his way through a bale of cotton, and finding a box in which there was a nice lot of wine and pound cake, sent by a newly married couple in Charleston to their friends in Philadelphia, he regaled himself upon these luxuries.

REDUCED PRICES FOR BOOTS.
NO 11 ANN STREET.
Near the American Museum, New York.

H. B. JONES,
Having adopted the cash system, and the motto "Quick sales and small profits," by which both buyer and seller are benefited, he respectfully invites both strangers and citizens to an examination of the quality and prices of his

CHOICE STOCK OF BOOTS.
The assortment embraces the following articles, which for style, durability and workmanship, challenge competition:

FINE FRENCH IMPERIAL DRESS BOOTS, $4.50 to 4.75
FINE FRENCH BOOTS, $3.50 to 4.00
CONGRESS BOOTS, $3.50 to 4.00
FRENCH PATENT LEATHER BOOTS, $7.00
FRENCH WATER PROOF BOOTS, $4.50 to 6.00

ALL wanted to give satisfaction. It will be observed that the prices are far below the ordinary demand for fashionable boots of superior quality, and therefore deserve the attention of all who may choose to suit themselves in the best manner at the smallest expense—the principle being adopted of "consulting the mutual interest of buyer and seller by manufacturing a good article and selling it at the lowest possible price for cash, and realizing a profit in the increased amount of sales and quick returns."

BY AUTHORITY.] Laws of the United States, PASSED AT THE FIRST SESSION OF THE THIRTIETH CONGRESS.

[PUBLIC No. 90.]
AN ACT to surrender to the State of Indiana the Cumberland road in said State.
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That so much of the Cumberland road as lies within the State of Indiana, and all the interest of the United States in the same, together with all the timber, stone, and other materials belonging to the United States, and procured for the purpose of being used in the construction of said road, and all the rights and privileges of every kind belonging to the United States, as connected with said road in said State, be, and the same are hereby, transferred and surrendered to the said State of Indiana.

ROBT. C. WINTHROP,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
G. M. DALLAS,
Vice President of the United States,
President of the Senate.
Approved, August 11, 1848.

[PUBLIC No. 92.]
AN ACT for giving effect to certain treaty stipulations between this and foreign governments, for the apprehension and delivery up of certain offenders.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in all cases in which there now exists, or hereafter may exist any treaty or convention for extradition between the government of the United States and any foreign government, it shall and may be lawful for any of the justices of the Supreme Court or judges of the several district courts of the United States—and the judges of the several State courts, and the commissioners authorized so to do by any of the courts of the United States, are hereby severally vested with power, jurisdiction, and authority, upon complaint made under oath, or affirmation, charging any person found within the limits of any State, district, or territory, with having committed within the jurisdiction of any such foreign government any of the crimes enumerated or provided for by any such treaty or convention—to issue his warrant for the apprehension of the person so charged, that he may be brought before such judge or commissioner, to the end that the evidence of criminality may be heard and considered; and if, on such hearing, the evidence be deemed sufficient by him to sustain the charge under the provisions of the proper treaty or convention, it shall be his duty to certify the same, together with a copy of all the testimony taken before him, to the Secretary of State, if a warrant may issue upon the requisition of the authorities of such foreign government, for the surrender of said person, according to the stipulations of said treaty or convention; and it shall be the duty of the said judge or commissioner to issue his warrant for the commitment of the person so charged to the proper gaol, there to remain until such surrender shall be made.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That in every case of complaint as aforesaid, and of a hearing upon the return of the warrant of arrest, copies of the depositions upon which an original warrant in any such foreign country may have been granted, and such person shall be delivered up accordingly; and it shall be lawful for the person or persons authorized, as aforesaid, to hold such person in custody, and to take him or her to the territories of such foreign government, pursuant to such treaty; and if the person so accused shall escape out of any custody to which he or she shall be committed, or to which he or she shall be delivered, as aforesaid, it shall be lawful to retake such person in the same manner as any person accused of any crime against the laws in force in that part of the United States to which he or she shall so escape may be retaken, on an escape.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That, when any person who shall have been committed under this act, or any such treaty, as aforesaid, to remain until delivered up in pursuance of a requisition, as aforesaid, shall not be delivered up pursuant thereto, and conveyed out of the United States within two calendar months after such commitment, over and above the time actually required to convey the prisoner from the gaol to which he or she may have been committed by the roadiest way, out of the United States, it shall, in every such case, be lawful for any judge of the United States, or of any State, upon application made to him by or on behalf of the person so committed, and upon proof made to him that reasonable notice of the intention to make such application has been given to the Secretary of State, to order the person so committed to be discharged out of custody, unless sufficient cause shall be shown to such judge why such discharge ought not to be ordered.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That, this act shall continue in force during the existence of any treaty of extradition with any foreign government, and no longer.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the courts of the United States, or any of them, to authorize any person or persons to act as a commissioner or commissioners, under the provisions of this act, and the doings of such person or persons so authorized, in pursuance of any of the provisions aforesaid, shall be good and available to all intents and purposes whatever.

Approved, August 12, 1848.

[PUBLIC No. 93.]
AN ACT concerning the pay department of the army.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the paymaster General be, and he is hereby, authorized to allow any of the paymasters of the army, who shall have been employed in the payment of volunteers, during the late war with Mexico, such a commission, not exceeding one half of one per centum on all such sums disbursed by him as aforesaid, as he shall deem a reasonable compensation for the risk and labor attending such service: Provided, That the said commission, to any one paymaster, shall not exceed one thousand dollars per annum, from the commencement to the close of the war.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said Paymaster General may, in his discretion, allow to any paymaster's clerk, in lieu of the pay now allowed by law, an annual salary of seven hundred dollars.

Approved August 12, 1848.

[RESOLUTION—PUBLIC No. 19.]
JOINT RESOLUTION concerning certain portions of the marine and ordinance corps.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the officers, non-commissioned officers, privates, and musicians of the marine corps, who have served with the army in the war with Mexico, and also the artificers and laborers of the ordinance corps serving in said war, be placed, in all respects as to bounty land and other remuneration in addition to ordinary pay, on a footing with the officers, non-commissioned officers, privates, and musicians of the army: Provided, That this remuneration shall be in lieu of prize money and all other extra allowances.

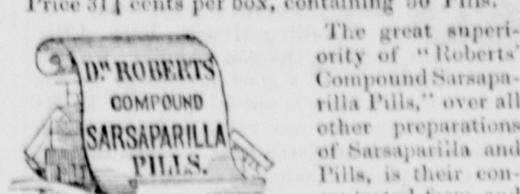

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the non-commissioned officers and privates of the marine corps be entitled to the same bounty for re-enlistment as is now or may hereafter be received by the non-commissioned officers of the army.

Approved, August 10, 1848.

THE BEST And Cheapest Family Medicine in the World! DR. ROBERTS' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills.

An Alternative, Tonic, Diuretic, and mild Cathartic.

The great superiority of "Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills," over all other preparations of Sarsaparilla and Pills, is their concentrated form, being combined with other vegetable extracts, render them the most purifying of all medicines.

The peculiar virtues of the Sarsaparilla root have for a long time attracted the attention of the medical profession and the public, and great interest has been directed to the developments of its medicinal properties: various Syrups, Tinctures, and Decoctions have been prepared from it, all of which have been found to contain little or none of the valuable properties of the root.

Medical men are aware how slightly the root yields its virtues by maceration in water, and the impossibility of retaining it when prepared in Alcohol. Hence the great value of the solid extract of which these Pills are prepared. One box of the Compound of Sarsaparilla Pills contains more of the Sarsaparilla root than is contained in two bottles of the syrups usually sold.

The proprietor experimented for several years to obtain from the root a solid extract, which should possess all its valuable properties in their most concentrated form, when he combined into the form of Pills, and has used them in his practice with the most astonishing success, and, at the suggestion of many friends, he now offers them to the public at a price which makes them the cheapest medicine in the world, with all the assurance that they will be found to be the best medicine prepared.

The Compound Sarsaparilla Pills are used for the permanent cure of those diseases which arise from an impure state of the blood and morbid secretions of the Liver and Spleen, viz: Erysipelas, Scrofula or King's Evil, Ulcers, cold Head, Obsolete Cutaneous Eruptions, Itch, Boils, Pimples, Sore, Weak, or Inflamed Eyes, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatic Affections, Pains of the Bones and Joints, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Asthma, Diarrhoea, and Dysentery, Coughs, Colds, Inflammation of the Lungs, Influenza, Indigestion, Headache, Jaundice, Generalized Nervous Debility, Female Complaints, Bilious Disorders, and Diseases arising from an injudicious use of Mercury, and whenever medicine is required to purify and invigorate the system.

They are a purely vegetable compound, and may be used by persons of all ages. They are pleasant to the palate, and produce no nausea, uneasiness or griping in their operation. Hundreds of certificates could be given of persons who have used them with the greatest benefit. Purchasers will be particular to ask for "Roberts' Compound Sarsaparilla Pills," and observe that the wrapper on each box has a facsimile of the signature of J. ROBERTS, M. D. No travelling agents appointed.

All applications for Agents, and letters on the subject of the Medicine, must be addressed (when paid) to C. P. FAY, New York City General Agent for the United States, British and West India Provinces.

PARK SALOON,

CORNER OF THAMES ST. & WASHINGTON SQUARE.

HAVING removed my establishment to the opposite side of the street, I wish my friends and the public to be informed of the same. There is no place in town so admirably adapted or so pleasantly located for my business as the one now occupied, and no pains or expense has been spared to make it all that a place of this kind should be, both for my own convenience and for the comfort of my customers—and I feel confident with past experience, that none will go away dissatisfied with the Park Saloon, which by the way we consider an appropriate name for our establishment.

In FRUIT we are determined not to be outdone either for cheapness or quality. We are daily in receipt (on the arrival of the steamer from New York) of every variety of Fruit, both Foreign and Domestic. Families and boarding houses may rest assured that they will do well by trading at this Store.

Rich CONFECTIONARY of every description made from the best stock and always fresh, at reduced prices.

TO THE THIRSTY—Whenever you wish to be refreshed with a glass of pure cool Soda at no place can you repair where things of this kind are kept in such perfection as at the PARK SALOON. We have taken great pains to ascertain the best mode of keeping beverages of the following kinds, MEAD, BEER, CIDER, and SODA; and we have no hesitation in saying that our present mode cannot be surpassed.

SEGARS and TOBACCO of every kind and brand always on hand wholesale and retail.

FANCY ARTICLES and TOYS in any quantity which can be bought cheap.

Each CAMPBELL and the latest improved LAMPS for burning fluid, and all other appearances belonging therewith, and a great many other articles too numerous to mention may be found at the PARK SALOON.

Corbett's Unrivalled —COMPOUND SYRUP OF— SARSAPARILLA.

THE subscribers having purchased of Dr. Corbett, of Shaker Village, Canterbury, N. H., the exclusive right for the sale of this invaluable preparation, now offer the same to the public under the amplest testimonials as to its signal and efficacious qualities. It stands unrivalled in cures of most inveterate cases of Scrofula, and all diseases of the Blood.

It also by its powerful alterative qualities, securely and permanently effects a full restoration of health in cases of Chronic Inflammation of the Digestive Organs, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Jaundice, Weakness and Soreness of the Stomach, Salt Rheum, all Cutaneous Eruptions, Erysipelas, &c. &c.

The fact is well established by medical writers, that Phthisis, Pulmonary Consumption, a disease most fatal in this country, most generally originates in a scrofulous state of the system. Diseases of the Liver and Affections of the Biliary Secretions often originate with persons of Scrofulous taint. But before such diseases can be mitigated or arrested, the Scrofulous Diathesis must be removed. This the present preparation is warranted effectually to do.

The formula was laid before the New Hampshire Medical Society, and was there approved.—And the celebrated Dr. Twitchell, of Keene, N. H., who has personally tested its virtues, and approves and prescribes this medicine in his general practice, pronounces it, and cordially affords it his full commendation. It is not the design or purpose of the Originator or the Proprietors of this medicine to attempt to bring it into notice or repute by publishing accounts of extraordinary cures it has effected, or the great relief and benefit which hundreds and thousands have realized from its use.

"THE BEST PREPARATION OF SARSAPARILLA EVER KNOWN,"

Well it is known that the public are satiated with flaming advertisements, and extravagant and even false statements of the wonderful effects of certain medicinal preparations. But the proprietors rely upon the MERITS OF THIS MEDICINE ALONE to bring it into general use.

The Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, as prepared by Dr. Corbett, of the Shaker Society, Canterbury, N. H., the committee have carefully examined. It comes sustained by the names of the most distinguished physicians in the country; and from a knowledge of its component parts, the committee cannot but express their full belief as to its efficacious qualities. The ingredients entering into its composition are of such a highly useful and alternative quality, that the committee willingly pronounce it the best preparation of Sarsaparilla Syrup yet known; and as such, think it deserving of a Diploma. (Signed by)

MARTIN GAY, M. D., Chemist, Boston.

J. V. C. SMITH, M. D., Editor of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

Its virtues have been tested through a process of years in every form of Scrofulous Affections, &c. And it is designed as a permanent, substantial and Standard Medicine, and may always be depended upon by the Medical Faculty and all others, to be just what it purports to be.

The form of this preparation, its component parts, &c., have been placed with the most distinguished physicians of the country, among whom, in Boston, are

Dr. J. C. Warren, Dr. J. M. Warren, Dr. Geo. Hayward, Dr. Edward Reynolds, Jr., Dr. John Jeffries, Dr. J. V. C. Smith, Dr. Abner of the Orthopedic Institute, and others, several of whom have given their names as writers in favor of this medicine. And others.

Under a full conviction of the virtues of this medicine, without accumulating facts as to the same, the Proprietors with all confidence, now place it before the public as a preparation not equalled by any ever yet discovered.

For sale by the Proprietors in any quantity. EDWARD BRINLEY & CO., No. 3 and 4, South side Fanueil Hall, Boston, and their authorized Agents.
